TJ SINNO

TJ Sinno's passion for home building began in high school when he discovered a love for architectural design. That interest led him to work as a painter, carpenter, electrician and plumber so he could learn everything possible about the industry. After serving four years in the U.S. Army as an engineer, he began working with a custom home builder to gain even more experience. His steady climb led him to become the owner of Sovereign Custom Homes and Sovereign General Contracting, this year's winner of four prestigious ARC Awards. "My mom always told me to never start something I can't finish," he says. "And she also told me to be devoted to my passions and never give up. These valuable words instilled the value of honest, hard work and the satisfaction of a job well done." Today, customers of Sovereign reap the benefits of this dedication, as they get to enjoy the experience of seeing their vision beautifully come to life.

Sinno's mission is to provide each homeowner with an exceptional home building experience based on quality construction practices, competitive pricing, and unmatched customer service. Sovereign maintains the highest standards of professionalism and integrity when working with customers, suppliers, and other trades. Sinno is known for open and honest communication throughout all stages of construction. One satisfied homeowner of a Sovereign project says it best: "Sovereign General Contractors is the most reliable, honest, reasonably priced, no-nonsense, get-the-work-done company." From the initial consultation, throughout construction, to the new home orientation, Sinno and his team are committed to making sure customers are heard. "We take pride in making the process extremely fun," he says. "Building is not supposed to be irritating; it should bring joy to your life, and that's my goal. We guarantee every inch of your home will be uniquely yours."

"The project on Buccaneer Pt. was a home we had lots of fun with," Sinno says. "We wanted to create a home that had a transitional country feel. The kitchen was one of my favorite areas to design, mainly for my love of cooking, or food rather. The master suite was a project I designed to be unique, from its use of therapy lighting to translucent quartzite, back-lit with LED. This shower has everything you need, from steam, music, lighting, and aquatic body massage to ambient rain. The outdoor living space and front curb appeal are my second loves. In Texas, everyone wants to smoke some ribs, so we love to design outdoor kitchens around every customer's style."
